FELLOWS' HYPOPHOSPHITES.

TUBERCULAR DISEASE OF LUNGS AND BRONCHITIS.

Tubercular consumption of the lungs is that form of the disease most common, most fatal, and until recently considered incurable. Tubercle, from which the name is derived, is a morbid product, deposited from diseased blood in various parts of the body; and in proportion as that fluid is impure, and length of time it remains so, will tubercular diathesis continue.

FALL RIVER, MASS., March 20th, 1879.

JAMES I. FELLOWS, Esq.

Dear Sir: About three years ago I was attacked with bronchitis and tubercular disease of the left lung, and suffered for two years so severely that I was unable to attend to business. About a year ago I was advised to try Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites, and before I had finished one bottle my appetite and strength were greatly improved; my cough became less troublesome, my sleep was sound and refreshing, which I had not been the case for over a year. I had suffered from nervousness and difficult breathing all the time I was sick; but your syrup has cured it all. I advise all persons afflicted as I was to use Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites.

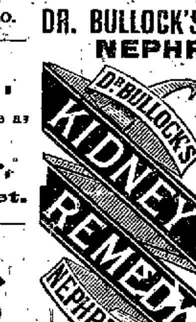

(Signed) JAMES H. STEWART.

An endless chain of good effects is formed by FELLOWS' COMPOUND SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES, and we are safe in saying, from a long experience in medicine, its virtues are not possessed by any other combination.

DR. J. STEVENS

of Veazie, has opened an office in Bangor, No. 4 Main St., Room 1, over Buck & Thurston's store, 2d door to Caldwell Sweet's drug store, for the special treatment of Chronic Diseases.

His thorough knowledge of the human system, both in health and disease, also the action of drugs on the same, has convinced him that all minerals or inorganic matter, (such as are not found in the chemical analysis of the several parts of the human system,) taken as medicine, must become a foreign substance there, and a great cause of disease. Therefore the Dr. has thrown out from his materia medica all such inorganic poisonous matter, as Mercury, Antimony, Lead, Zinc, Copper, &c., and all preparations of same for internal use, and has taken his from the Organic Kingdom, and, in a word, chooses what he considers the best from all the different systems of medicine.

In this reform practice he uses the HEALING BALSAMS, the SOOTHING BALMS, and the NEUTRALIZING MIXTURES taken from God's own Remedies, the Herbal Kingdom, and by science and years of hard toil has so perfected this system of medical practice that many of the old chronic diseases that have been pronounced incurable are now easily cured by this NEW LIFE-GIVING SYSTEM, and when he does cure a disease he leaves no deadly poison nor mineral drug in the human system to create another worse than the first.

The Dr., after due deliberation over his almost unparalleled success in treating Chronic diseases, has determined to make a specialty of the following distressing complaints, which are so puzzling to doctors in general, viz.: All Nervous Diseases, all diseases of Kidney, Liver and Bladder, all diseases peculiar to Females; also Genital Weakness, Early Decay, diseases arising from Youthful Indiscretion, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Piles, Worms, Billiousness, Scrofula Humors, Mercurial Humors, Cancers. In this he uses the famous Philadelphia antidote. Scores are now rejoicing by his infallible treatment of Fits and Brain diseases and all diseases of the system he handles with skill and delicacy, and will do you no harm in any case whatever.

Lung Complaints, Bronchitis, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Spinal Complaints, are treated with great skill, and if he cannot warrant a cure in all cases, he will help, and many cases permanently restored to health. Those who wish to avail themselves of this opportunity of being restored to health and happiness, should not miss this rare chance.

Office hours positively from 11 A. M. to 5 P. M. Consultation free.

Five Famous Operas

MIGNON, ($1.) Opera by AMBROISE THOMAS. This very successful opera first became known in Paris, where it slowly worked its way to permanent distinction, and has become one of the standards. It is very full, occupies 265 pages, and furnishes to the purchaser quite a library of music of a high order.

AIDA, ($2.) Grand Opera by VERDI. Composed in the first instance for the ruler of Egypt, and first given in that ancient kingdom, where also the scene of the story is laid. The strange life of old forgotten ages comes before us, and is made vivid by the thrilling music of one of the most brilliant of composers.

CARMEN, ($2.) By GEORGES BIZET. A Spanish Opera, introducing Spanish Gypsies, Soldiers, Spanish Dons, a Toreador, and Spanish Contraband Traders. We are in contact with the bizarre ways and incidents of the Spanish peninsula, and the music is quite in consonance with the prevailing brightness.

MEFISTOFELE, ($2.) By A. BOITO. Mefistofele is the true fiend, according to Goethe, whose poem is closely followed throughout. A strong composition, romantic and weird, and now widely given, and pronounced a success.

FATINITZA, ($2.) By F. VON SUPPE, whose music is most taking, and who introduces us, in a free and easy and humorous way, to Russians and Turks during the war. Very Popular.

Any book mailed, post-free, for retail price.

What Happened to

Mr. Joseph Beach.

Stone in the Kidney expelled after using Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" about two weeks.

One of the most remarkable cases that has ever been brought to the notice of the public, is that of Mr. J. S. Beach, of Stone Ridge, Ulster Co., N. Y. Mr. Beach had suffered since October 18th, 1878, from the presence of Calculus or Stone in the right Kidney. No less than seven physicians were employed at different times, to whom Mr. Beach paid hundreds of dollars for medical treatment, with only temporary relief from his agony.

By the urgent solicitations of his friends he was induced to try Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy"—experienced a marked improvement from the first day he began to use the medicine; on the 15th of September he voided a stone as large as could be passed through the natural channel.

Mr. Beach concludes a long letter to Dr. Kennedy by saying: "It will always afford me pleasure to recommend the "Favorite Remedy" to those who may be suffering from difficulties of the Kidneys and Bladder, or any disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. The "Favorite Remedy" sold by all druggists. The Doctor's only address, is Rondout, New York.

STATE NEWS.

Aroostook.

A Fort Kent correspondent of the Pioneer writes: The cold weather is about all we have to contend with. The thermometer has indicated 35° to 40° below zero. The snow is more than three feet deep in this locality. Diphtheria is prevalent here. Several deaths have occurred. Among the victims was the only child of A. G. Ferlason, Esq., of this place. It is also reported from Seven Islands, fifty miles from any settlement, where S. W. Stevens lost one child and Mr. Eaton two children. The disease, in a malignant form, and accompanied with measles, is taking off the children at Lake Tameriscouta on the route between Little Falls to River du Loup. This has been a favorable winter for lumbering. There is only one gin-mill in this village, and that is run by Madame Keddle.

Scarlatina has broken out in Sherman lately. There are several cases of it, one proving fatal. No cases of diphtheria reported for some time.

The Portland Law Club, which has a membership of fifteen, composed wholly of law students pursuing the study of law in Portland, is being favored by lectures on different legal topics by some of the leading members of Cumberland Bar. The following is a list of attorneys who will address the club: Jan. 21—Charles F. Libby, Esq., on "Legal Studies; Jan. 28, Hon. Wilbur F. Lunt, on "Libel and Slander;" Feb. 11, Hon. Charles W. Goddard, on "Medical Jurisprudence;" Feb. 18, Sewall C. Strout, Esq., on "Wills;" Feb. 25, Thomas H. Haskell, on "Pleading and Practice;" March 4, George F. Holmes, Esq., on "Real Property;" March 11, Hon. Josiah H. Drummond, on "Corporations;" March 18, Hon. William L. Putnam, on "Equity;" March 25, Clarence Hale, Esq.

The meeting of the club are held on Friday evening at the attorneys' room. The first part of the evening is given to the moot court, the gentlemen who address the club sitting as justices.

The Portland Press says: Mr. Walling, master mechanic of the Eastern Railroad, was in town, Tuesday, and showed us the new drawbridge which is in process of construction in the yard in this city. It is not what is called a jackknife drawbridge, the usual style employed. Ordinarily as the chords swing around they shut together, jackknife fashion. This draw doesn't close up, but swings into place altogether. The draw is 60 feet long and 43 feet wide at the opening. It is constructed of iron and when put together will be hoisted on the pile car by a derrick and moved to Fore River, and then with the aid of this derrick and the tower derrick swung into place. It was built by the Passumpic Rolling Mills Company and will be erected under Mr. Walling's supervision. In the Eastern yard, also, we noticed a splendid new car from the company's shops, painted yellow, elegantly frescoed in gold, Pompeian red and French gray, finished in black walnut and chestnut, sumptuously upholstered in red, and provided with all the conveniences. It is numbered 60.

The Augusta Journal says: We are pleased to know that Mayor Vickery has recovered from his illness and is again attending to his duties, both public and private. We also understand that Mr. Vickery has decided to allow his name to be used as candidate for Mayor another year.

Mr. Albert Foster, of Vassalboro, has three teams in charge of Mr. E. Getchell, of Augusta, lumbering in Oak Grove woods. The logs are taken to the Church mill. Ira Sturgis has ten or a dozen Canadians getting out wood from near the Maine Central railroad.—The friends of the Rev. J. R. Clifford, met at Bush's Hall last Thursday evening, and after passing the evening very pleasantly, left, as substantial tokens of their esteem, $21.53.

Business at Mr. Mampel's iron foundry, at Bath, is remarkably good.

Sheriff Ballou arrested Frank Perkins, a native of Westport, on Saturday last, for stealing a watch, the property of Mr. Jas. Davis, of Phipsburg. Young Perkins was brought before Judge Tallman, of Bath, and pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $10 and costs. In default of payment he was given a free ride to Wiscasset, where he will remain for a period of 30 days. The watch was recovered.

The Bath Times says: The train due at the Maine Central station at 7 P. M., Tuesday evening, did not arrive until 8.20, owing to an accident that befell the engine. When near "Thompson's Ledge," near the trotting park, one of the parallel rods of the engine broke. The "walk" on one side of the engine was completely stripped from the side of the boiler, by the rod, and the large iron supports were broken off and twisted out of shape. The train was twenty minutes late when it left the Brunswick depot, and was being driven at an unusual speed when the accident happened.

Mr. W. B. Morrill, who lives on the Norridgewock road, fully a mile from the village, could be seen walking to and from his home during the coldest weather of last week, without a sign of an overcoat on. He is 83 years old and we doubt if there are many younger men who would care to go that distance with no less protection from the chilling blasts.—Reporter.

Mrs. Susan Boardman, 76 years old last September, is one of the smart old ladies of the place. Last year, besides doing her housework and knitting, she spun 284 skeins of yarn, and with the help of her husband, who is a few years her senior, in winding the yarn, has also doubled and twisted 124 skeins. She frequently walks two miles to meeting and returns.—Reporter.

The Somerset Reporter says: The failure of Nathaniel H. Saunders, of New Portland, will surprise a number of our readers. Mr. Saunders was supposed to be worth quite a property but it has vanished and he has left town. He was here a week ago Monday and transacted some business, also wrote to his family and since that time has not been seen or heard from. It is thought that his liabilities are about $4,500 and his assets will be small. His creditors do not suspect him of wrong doing but think that his absence is owing to his natural pride in meeting obligations promptly. The signing of notes is doubtless the cause of his trouble.

SOME APPORTIONMENT FIGURES.

[From the N. Y. Tribune.]

It will be a difficult matter to pass any apportionment bill at this session. Members from the North who vote for any such bill as is likely to command the support of a majority in the present House will be voting themselves into political graves. As yet there is not much feeling on the subject. It has not been sufficiently discussed to command popular understanding. But if any Northern member votes for a bill, the practical effect of which is to decree that for ten years to come 100 voters at the South shall be equal to more than 140 voters at the North, he may rest assured that the people will understand it thoroughly before the next Congressional election takes place.

It is true that the Constitution does not require Congress to apportion its members according to the number of votes cast in the several States. It does require Congress to apportion according to population. But in doing this there is wide room for choice. By making the number of members of the House larger or smaller, as the official tables show, an apportionment based on population will be made to yield a large gain in the relative strength of one section or the other. If the number of members in the House be reduced to 290, an apportionment based on population, and made according to the mode prescribed by the Constitution, will give a net gain of nine members to the old Slave States. If the number of members in the House be increased to 322, an apportionment based on population, and made according to the constitutional mode, will give a net gain of three members to the North. Between the two the House has full power to choose, in strict accordance with the constitutional requirements. It ought to choose having due regard to the fact that a Northern voter ought to have as much power in the Government as a Southern voter.

Neither the bill which the Democratic Committee has reported, fixing the number at 311, nor the bill which Mr. Cox so earnestly advocates, fixing the number at 301, has a proper regard for the facts. With 311 members, 118 of them will come from the South, and the Northern majority, now 81, will be reduced to 75. With 301 members, 112 will come from the South, and the Northern majority will be reduced to 77. Now the whole number of votes polled in all the old Slave States at the recent Presidential election was 12,776,934. The Northern States cast 6,441,596 votes. Within the limits of choice which the Constitution fixes, the apportionment ought to be so made that the Northern voter shall have as nearly as possible equal power with the Southern voter. Entire equality cannot be attained in compliance with the Constitution. But that principle of justice which it is the design of the Constitution to uphold demands that Congress shall not so choose as to give a greater power than the Constitution requires to the section which has the smallest proportion of voters.

With 311 members, 23,533 voters at the South will be permitted to elect a member, while 33,376 voters at the North will be needed to elect a member. That is, 100 Southern voters will have as much power as 142 Northern voters. With 301 members, 24,794 voters at the South and 34,082 at the North will elect a member. That is, 100 Southern voters will have as much power as 137 Northern voters. If any Northern member of Congress votes for either of these bills, there will be care taken to explain to his constituents the meaning of his vote. They will be asked whether it seems to them that 100 votes cast or counted at the South ought to have as much power as 142 or 137 votes cast by themselves.

True, the Constitution does not permit this inequality to be wholly remedied. So much the less excuse is there for those who propose to make the inequality greater than it necessarily is. It is possible to retain the present number of members, or to increase the number far enough to secure a net gain to the section having the largest number of voters. We do not here discuss the remedy which may be applied under the Fourteenth Amendment of the Constitution. This Congress will refuse to consider any such measure. But either 293 or 322 members would give the minority of voters less relative power than the bills proposed by the Democratic Committee or by Mr. Cox. There is no necessity of changing the number, but if it is to be increased, that increase should not be such as to give a larger proportion of power to the smaller proportion of voters. That is not consistent with the principles which underlie Republican government.

But the vote at the South was small, it will be said, only because a part of those who were entitled did not vote. The country understands that fact, and understands also the shameful reason. Thousands did not vote at the South because they could not vote freely, save at the peril of their lives. Thousands more did not vote because they knew, as the result proved, that their votes would not be honestly counted. In the Northern States are 62.51 per cent. of the population of the States, and they polled 6,441,596 votes. Had the Southern States cast as many in proportion—and they should have cast more, for they have fewer unnaturalized foreigners—they would have cast 3,884,000 votes instead of 2,776,954. Over 1,000,000 voters were robbed of their rights by force, terrorism or fraud. And now the perpetrators of these infamies want to cast hereafter, not only the votes to which their victims would be fairly entitled, but enough more to choose several members of Congress who ought to be elected by Northern voters. It is about time to put a limit to this wholesale robbery of political power.

MR. EDMUNDS ON BIENNIAL SESSIONS.

Senator Edmunds, of Vermont, has lately written a letter to a Massachusetts inquirer in which he says: "I do not think the change from annual to biennial sessions of the Legislature in Vermont has done good, but the reverse. I am satisfied that it has resulted, in connection with the one-term idea which came in with it, in having a smaller proportion of the members of former experience, and, in respect of the re-elected members, has left them in a condition of less memory of, and acquaintance with, previous legislation, etc., than they had under the annual system. I believe, also, that, even in our little State, the general value of annual sessions, compared with biennial, is great in respect of keeping up personal acquaintanceship, communion, and interchange of ideas upon all topics, from the simplest agricultural and school district affairs to the broadest ones of finance and politics, among the citizens who thus assemble. Again, even in as simple a community as ours, the frequent critical observation and overhauling of every department of administration, is, I think, of immense value as a preventive as well as a corrective of bad or negligent administration. In all these respects, and many others that may be mentioned, I think the annual meetings of the representative men of a commonwealth are worth a hundred times what they cost."

THE PLANETS.

The planetary aspect of the evening sky has not been so beautiful for many years, and the show is now approaching its culmination. The heavens were glorious to behold during the evenings of the last week. The moon, commencing with the 2d, paid her respects on successive evenings to Venus, Jupiter and Mars, and, excepting on one evening, there were no clouds to mar the exceptional beauty of the scene. No observers could lift their eyes to the golden mysteries enshrined above, without being impressed with the exceeding loveliness of the shining throng. Sunday evening, however, carried off the palm for the remarkable clearness of the sky, the purity of the atmosphere and the unruffled serenity of the elemental conditions. The night was one dear to the heart of astronomers. At half-past six the celestial arch presented a charming picture, the trio of planets glowing in the west; the moon, one day past the first quarter, shining from the zenith with the clustering Pleiades not far away, Orion with his glittering brilliants filling the eastern sky with sparkling light, and the matchless Sirius shining in the southeast.

The telescope view of separate portions of the picture was superb beyond expression. Venus, when the far-seeing eye of the instrument was turned upon her, was an object of dazzling brightness, near the size of the moon, her disc half-enlightened, as our luminary looks at her last quarter. Jupiter was splendidly brilliant, his belts radiant in prismatic hues, his great red spot still visible, and his moons attending their giant chief, two on one side and two on the other. Saturn's peerless ringed-orb, with his belts and three moons, was the next study. The telescope was then turned to the moon, a portion of the terminator or boundary between the bright and shaded portions being brought into the field. With a high power she seemed so near that one by reaching out might almost touch her surface. There is nothing in astronomy more impressive than the utter desolation and death that reign on the chalk-like surface of this dead planet. There are no clouds to diversify the sky, no twilight to prolong the day, no sound to break the eternal silence. Immense craters, deep fissures, rounded hillocks, and the scars of mighty commotions are all that remain of regions that were probably habitable like the earth, in times gone by. The view on the terminator was the most interesting. Instead of the unbroken line of light that marks its appearance to the naked eye, the moon's rough edge was formed of branching horns of radiant light, like the antlers of a stag or huge formations of coral. These were the summits of lunar mountains, lighted up by the sun, which was just rising to this part of the moon. The bright mountain-peaks were weird and wonderful as well as beautiful, though their only admirers were observers two hundred and forty thousand miles away.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The whole National Guard of Pennsylvania, eight thousand strong, will participate in the inaugural procession.

The most of the leading papers in the South favor a large River and Harbor Appropriation bill, while most Northern journals denounce it.

"Why this disgraceful inefficiency and do-nothingism in a Congress supposed to be Democratic?" asks the New York Express (Dem.) "Because that Congress is Democratic," is the reply of a Republican paper.

Last year $45,000,000 were deposited in the savings banks of New York, and yet we are told that the masses are tending poverty-ward while the millionaires are scooping in the money and property of the world.

The Democratic newspapers boldly denied the existence of that rebel flag in West Chester, Penn., during the last campaign, and had much to say about campaign lies. But the Philadelphia editor who published the story and was sued for libel based his defence on the facts, and has just obtained a triumphant verdict, the prosecutor paying all the costs.

The Boston Journal favors the election of Mr. Reed, of Maine, to the Speakership of Congress, and says: "Mr. Reed is in full sympathy with those who represent the interests of New England, and may, therefore, fairly expect to receive the support of the Republican Representatives-elect from New England. Backed by such support, Mr. Reed's friends are confident of success. We trust that the delegation of Massachusetts will feel like making its influence felt by giving Mr. Reed unanimous support."

CURRENT ITEMS.

Miss Jennie Robertson, who recently died at Nashville, Tenn., was known as "Soldier Charley." She served for several years in the Union army, in male attire.

The Boston Journal says: Those men who imagine that Senator Blaine desires a cabinet position in order to punish those who insured his defeat at Chicago, know very little of the man. Petty resentments and jealousies find no place in Mr. Blaine's nature.

William Astor and John Jacob Astor, sons of William B. Astor and grandsons of old John Jacob Astor, are estimated to be worth fifty millions of dollars each, all of which was inherited from their grandfather. William B. Astor left his own property, worth several millions, to his own grandchildren.

William E. Dodge and others have filed articles incorporating the New York, Madeira and West Coast of Africa Steamship Company, with a capital of $100,000, with a proviso that it can be increased to $4,000,000. The company has been formed to provide a steamer for carrying emigrants to Liberia, in place of the present slow sailing vessels.

The supply of Croton water in New York is running short, the consumption being from eight to ten million gallons daily above the full capacity of the acqueduct, which excess is drawn from the storage reservoirs. This excessive consumption is due to the immense amount of waste caused by the general habit of keeping the water running to prevent pipes from freezing.

The ruins of a once magnificent bathing establishment have been discovered near Herculaneum, covered with a layer of ashes and lava ten meters in thickness. They surpass in richness all previous similar discoveries. The fountains and tanks are made of oriental granite and ornamented with sculptures. The floors are of colored glass mosaic, but badly preserved. The walls are elegantly decorated with paintings and stucco work.

Four members of a family named White, living in Whitehall, New York, are remarkable for weight and stature. The father is six feet and one inch tall, and weighs two hundred and three pounds, while David, the third son, twenty-one years old, has the same weight, but is six feet five inches tall. The united weight of the father and three sons is seven hundred and fifty-one pounds, and their total height is twenty-four feet, seven inches. There are five younger sons, from eleven to nineteen years old, who foreshadow proportions similar to those of their elders.

Cincinnati boasts of the latest invention to aid in the development of the electric light. A gold pen manufacturer of that city, Holland by name, has after twenty years' experiments with iridium succeeded in discovering a method of fusing it, and believes that the result will be the production of a burner for the electric light which will last indefinitely, and can be used in the open air without need of the sealed glass globe of the present light. If the discovery proves to be all that is claimed for it, Mr. Holland is the coming millionaire.

Queen Sophie, of Sweden, during the six years of her illness, has so suffered from nervousness that she has not been able to listen at all to music, though she is very fond of it. Upon her recent marvellous recovery at Amsterdam her eldest son hastened to her, and his singing was her first musical enjoyment. He has a beautiful voice, and the eyes of those present filled with tears as they saw the radiance in the mother's face and the emotion which the son tried to conceal as he sang to that mother, restored to him almost from her death-bed.

Mr. Pillsbury, the Superintendent of State Prisons, in New York, has just concluded a renewal of the contract by which the State lets Sing Sing Prison labor to John S. Perry, of Albany. Mr. Perry's present contract, fixed to expire on the 1st of January 1882, is for nine hundred men in stove-making at the rate of fifty cents a day. It has been renewed for five years from that date at fifty-six cents a day, and one of the conditions of the new contract is that the enlarged price shall apply also to the last ten months of the current contract. The increase over the present price will make a difference in the State's favor of more than $6,000 a year.

So said the blind man after the Saviour had healed him. Actual blindness is not easy to cure, although it is sometimes done. But remember that disease of the eyes often result from impure blood. If you have any reason to think your bad eyes may have come from this cause, lose not an hour of time in buying a bottle of Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy;" which will cost you only One Dollar, and take it to cleanse your blood. What Happened to

Mr. Joseph Beach.

Stone in the Kidney expelled after using Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" about two weeks.

One of the most remarkable cases that has ever been brought to the notice of the public, is that of Mr. J. S. Beach, of Stone Ridge, Ulster Co., N. Y. Mr. Beach had suffered since October 18th, 1874, from the presence of Calculus or Stone in the right Kidney. No less than seven physicians were employed at different times, to whom Mr. Beach paid hundreds of dollars for medical treatment, with only temporary relief from his agony.

By the urgent solicitations of his friends he was induced to try Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy"—experienced a marked improvement from the first day he began to use the medicine; on the 15th of September he voided a stone as large as could be passed through the natural channel.

Mr. Beach concludes a long letter to Dr. Kennedy by saying: "It will always afford me pleasure to recommend the "Favorite Remedy" to those who may be suffering from ... of the Kidneys and Bladder, or any disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. The "Favorite Remedy" sold by all druggists. The Doctor's only address, is Rondout, New York.

It will be impossible to move these until the dam is repaired and this cannot be accomplished until summer. Meanwhile no coal can be gotten out and a famine will surely result.

The robbers once offered a compromise for $150,000, but the Bank only wanted to give $100,000 for a return of securities. It is believed that a compromise is likely to be speedily effected. KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS ASSEMBLY. The series of dances under the auspices of the Knights of Pythias came to a close at Music Hall last evening. This course of assemblies has been exceedingly pleasant, and the members of the order who have had the matter in charge are entitled to the highest praise for the manner in which all their arrangements have been perfected. Andrews' Orchestra furnished superb music throughout the entire course, and it has been the subject of many flattering remarks from those who have occupied gallery seats, as well as those on the floor. The dance last evening was attended by a very pleasant party, all of whom regretted that it was the last, and many expressed the wish that as this course has proved so successful the Knights would start another before the season closes.

A HISTORIC SHOE. In the window of a Portland store is an ancient shoe or slipper which possesses a great deal of historical interest. It was the wedding shoe of Madame Frye, wife of Col. James Frye of Andover, Mass., who was a personal friend of General George Washington and a member of his staff. The shoe was worn by Mrs Frye at the inauguration of Washington as President, and subsequently at the inauguration of John Quincy Adams, by Miss Fletcher of Boston, a grand-niece of Madame Frye and a niece of Daniel Webster. The shoe is now the property of Dr. Chadwick of Portland, who is a great-grandson of Madame Frye. The mate to the shoe and the brocade dress of the same material are in the possession of other members of the family. The shoe attracts much attention, although the style does not differ materially from that now in vogue.

ACCIDENT. A snow slide Wednesday from the roof of the building occupied by Sweet Brothers, in West Market Square, carried away the telephone connection on the side of the building. The wire came down in the street and early in the evening as Mr. Chas. Tibbetts of Cottageville was driving through the square, his sleigh struck it and broke his harness badly. Mr. Tibbetts prevented the horse from running away, but was obliged to do considerable repairing before he could get home.

NOT AN AGREEABLE ACQUAINTANCE. The Ellsworth American says: Last Friday noon, as Mr. Ira Grindle, of Bluehill, while at work for Hall Brothers, on Township No. 8, was returning to his work from dinner, he saw a loupcevier coming towards him. The animal stepped some six or eight feet out of the road and was making preparation to spring upon him. Mr. Grindle threw his axe at him and fortunately hit him. The blow stunned the animal and before he recovered Mr. Grindle seized his axe again and killed him. Upon examination it seemed he had had an encounter with a porcupine as he was completely filled with quills. He measured five feet three inches in length.

WOOD. Wood seasoned in large piles in the forest, is worth twenty to thirty per cent. less for fall than where it is drawn out of the woods and seasoned where it has free access to air and sunshine. The best wood is that which is partially seasoned out doors, and then, while dry, placed under cover in a dry, airy place, to complete the seasoning process. Few who buy unseasoned wood experience the luxury of burning bright, seasoned wood. Every man who lives on a farm, and obtains his supply of wood from his woodlot, can easily have the best of wood to burn. No rational man of ordinary energy will be so shiftless as to pester his wife with the difficulties arising from a sputtering fire of green wood. The smoke of green wood fires, causes many family jars, some of which seem justifiable. It is no more work to keep a year's supply of good, dry wood on hand, than it is to furnish only a load at a time, as it is wanted, and always be burning green wood.

GIVEN UP. It is now four months since the ship Charlotte W. White, of this city, sailed from St. John for Liverpool, and we are now forced to the unhappy conclusion that all are lost. Captain Dyer was an excellent shipmaster and his loss is a serious one. Captain D., married Miss Wescott, of Castine, an estimable lady, who is now in this city. The mate, Mr. Doane, was married at St. John the day before the ship sailed. The loss is particularly severe to Mrs. Dyer, the mother of the captain, who has passed through many trying scenes. In 1865, she accompanied her husband, the late Capt. John Dyer, on a voyage in the ship Eddystone. On the passage from Bazine to Rangoon, the mate, John A. Dyer, her son, died. Capt. D., embalmed the body and kept it on board the ship. The Eddystone then made the passage to Liverpool, where Capt. D., was taken ill and died. With the dead bodies of her husband and son, Mrs. Dyer made the passage home in the ship, bringing their remains to Belfast. The community sympathizes with the family in their affliction.—Belfast Journal.

THE JAPANESE TEA PARTY.

The Last Opportunity.

As the ladies who have charge of the Japanese Tea Party feel very much encouraged at the liberal patronage that has attended their efforts in behalf of the Home for Aged Women, they have decided to continue the exhibition through this afternoon and evening. Those of our citizens who have not already been into the hall, should avail themselves of this opportunity, as they will feel more than repaid for their trouble, besides the satisfaction of knowing that they have done something in aid of a most worthy institution.

The loan collection in itself will amply repay one for considerable inconvenience in getting to the hall, as it contains a very large number of Japanese articles, many of which are rare and costly—so much so that an insurance of five hundred dollars has been put on the collection while in the hall. There are many other interesting features in the exhibition, and the refreshment tables are supplied with almost everything likely to tempt the appetite.

The following ladies are in Japanese costume. Mrs. McLaughlin, Mrs. Jones P. Veazie, Mrs. H. D. Williams, Miss Clergue, Mrs. H. E. Sellers, Mrs. W. Bridges and Misses Annie Ross, May Ross, Mabel Chick, Annie Cutter, E. W. Eaton, C. D. Eaton, Lilla Roberts, Fanny Eaton, Florence Whitney, Maud Buzzell, Fanny Bridges, Mary Mason, Minnie Robinson, Etta Henry, Hattie Stewart, Georgia Lewis and Grace Hemenway.

The admission to the hall during the day will be ten cents, and in the evening twenty cents, which will include a social dance. A lunch will be served at noon and cake and ice cream will be on sale in the evening after the regular supper. Patronize the ladies!

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT.

February (Criminal) Term.

HON. JOHN A. PETERS, Justice Presiding.
B. H. MACE, County Attorney.
RUEL SMITH, Esq., Clerk.
WOODBURY PULSIFER, Sten.

Thursday, Feb. 10.

State vs. Sarah Estes. The direct testimony for the government was closed last night and at the coming in of the court this morning, the point having been raised last night by Col. Hutchings, counsel for the respondent, His Honor, Judge Peters, ruled that on the testimony put in by the government, the crime of arson could not be maintained; that the building burned was at the time of the fire unoccupied and not a dwelling house within the meaning of the statute, the burning of which would constitute the crime of arson. That the indictment should have been drawn under the section of the statute which is intended to protect property against incendiaries, where the punishment may be imprisonment anywhere from one to ten years instead of under the section which is intended for the protection of human life, and where the punishment was by hanging before the abolishment of the death penalty in this State. The Court exonerated the County Attorney from any blame in the matter, saying that the testimony as to the occupancy of the house had undoubtedly taken him by surprise.

To sustain the indictment as drawn, this building must have been the actual dwelling house of Oscar S. Howard at the time of the fire; but it is not necessary that he or his family should be present and lodging in the house at the time, for it would be sufficient to sustain the indictment if Howard with his family were temporarily absent in another town for a shorter or longer period, with the intention when he left of returning to this house. And it seems further by the instructions of the learned Judge, that a man may have two dwelling houses at the same time, and that the burning of either while he was actually lodging in the other, would be a sufficient occupancy to constitute the crime of arson, as when a gentleman has a city residence and a country residence, living part of the time in the one place and a part in the other.

By advice of the Judge, the County Attorney nol prossed the indictment. This action does not prevent another indictment being found for the lesser offence, above mentioned, providing the County Attorney may deem it proper to again present the case to the Grand Jury.

The Court this afternoon adjourned until to-morrow morning.

PENOBSCOT MANUFACTURES.

Something in the Line of Business and Manufacturing at Orono—By Water Power.

Mr. Editor:—Let me recommend to all who may not have seen "Wells Water Power of Maine," to at once procure a copy and read the article on the water power in Orono and Oldtown—a power certainly in point of extent and safety, unsurpassed in New England—and yet, almost wholly unimproved. But my object at this present time, is to give a brief description of the manufactures, at Orono, of "Driving Tools" by the firm of of E. Mansfield & Co., composed of his son, Edward W., and a nephew, Israel W. Mansfield. During a leisure moment I have made several visits to this establishment, which is situated on the "Bennoch Dam" so-called, and have been greatly interested. They have two buildings—one 30 by 50 feet, two stories high, and the other, erected the past autumn, 47 by 28, three stories high. The trip hammers and forges and machinery for the iron work are in the first building. The turning lathes and machinery for manufacturing the stocks and finishing up of the tools are in the second building. In cheerful response to the various inquiries made of the different members of the firm, I obtained the following facts:

Their harvest time is in the late fall and winter months. At this date, they have constantly employed ten workmen in the shops and outside in the cutting and hauling and splitting of the lumber, from twelve to fifteen men and twelve horses. For the stocks, they use only the best, straight grained rock maple, which is not very abundant and consequently quite expensive. To the question, how many of these tools will you manufacture this season, the senior member of the firm made answer,—not less than ten thousand.

Can you find ready sale for such a number and where do you sell most? He replied, we find it difficult to supply the increasing demand. We sell some to supply our home market, but by far the greater portion are sent by us to Mr. R. W. Kimball, merchant and dealer in saws and mill furnishing at Bangor. He is in the constant receipt of orders from all sections of the country. We have orders from all the lumbering States of the Union,—from Washington Territory and the far off Oregon and California. We send large quantities to Canada and the British Provinces. These tools are neatly finished and have a useful and practical look about them as though intended for service.

Now, said I to the good Deacon, who is the head of the firm and the inventor of many and valuable improvements in simplifying the manufacture, as you can have no fear of my attempting to supplant you in this business, allow me to ask a few more questions.

Just tell me how many operations must be passed through to complete one of these simple tools? After a moment's pause, he answered: To make the stock, seven; to make the pick, six; to make the cant hook, seven, and so on. Then, each tool has the stamp of "E. Mansfield & Co."

And what are some of these operations? Take first, the stock. This must be split out from the maple log into suitable strips; but we never use the hearts of the wood.

It is then taken to a circular saw and trimmed. Next, to the turning lathe, where it is turned into proper shape—each stock averaging 5½ to 6 feet in length—It it is then taken to the boring machine. Then placed away to be partially seasoned and when the cant-hook and pick are each in place, each handle is carefully sandpapered and smoothed.

In the foundery we have two forges and two furnaces, all operated by blasts, produced by water power.

We have two trip hammers, with the necessary dies and one heavy drop with dies. This drop was manufactured in New Haven, Connecticut, expressly for our use and with the dies contrived by us. Its cost, in position, is about $800, and proves an immense saving of labor, and, in our estimation, actually saving the work of six men.

As to the picks all are made of an excellent quality of stock, and of such dimention as ordered, and usually come in bars about 12 feet long. These are cut up into pieces of 6 and 7 inches each and then hammered into the uniform size and shape under the trip hammer and with dies for the purpose.

The cant-hooks are similarly prepared and then placed under the drop, with a die to form the hook, but the hook has to be heated and bent by a hand machine. Prior to bending the hook, each one is punched by hand process and the point sharpened on a revolving emery wheel.

For clasps or ferules, Mr. E. Mansfield has invented and patented something entirely new, and these are steel castings, ordered and made at Philadelphia, expressly and solely for this company. Of the old fashioned iron clasp, they make but very few and only when ordered, as they regard the steel casting far preferable. Before placing upon the stock, each has to be carefully turned and made smooth, by a lathe and tools for the purpose and are then driven upon the stock while thoroughly heated. The picks are then oiled put in place and driven home.

The next operation is the putting in of the cant hook, which is held in place by a screw bolt of proper size and well headed down. The stock is then ready for the sand papering and smoothing. The final process is to paint thoroughly the steel portion of every tool. They are then ready for market. It is truly an interesting and busy place to look in upon.

Mr. E. Mansfield has for many years been engaged in the manufacture of various kinds of edge tools and his nephew in wood and iron turning, but it has been only during the past season that they have put in new and improved machinery and are now doing a large, and it is to be hoped, a profitable business in this special enterprise.

I should add, though it may be readily inferred, that water is the propelling power of all this varied machinery. And I must not omit to mention the fact that the chips, or shavings, from the turning lathes are utilized for the purpose of heating the building and seasoning the stocks by a new and most novel process.

Such enterprise and improvements deserve encouragement and liberal patronage. And it is to be hoped that this is but the beginning of manufacturing enterprises in this quiet town, and if we cannot have the large cotton and woolen factories established here, we may have a thousand other enterprises to give profitable employment and revive this once busy and flourishing but now lifeless village.

NOTES.

The Criterion Comedy Company, an organization with a Metropolitan reputation, will present their farcical comedy, entitled "Freaks," in Norombega on Friday and Saturday evenings, of next week. The Detroit Post says:

The Criterion Comedy Company has won the unqualified admiration of all discriminating play-goers, and is playing a prosperous engagement. It is certainly a remarkable organization, composed of skilled players whose efforts are directed by one who is unsurpassed in this country for his mastery of all the nice and intricate details of stage management. Such acting as this company affords is entitled to the most unqualified approval and the most liberal patronage.

The St. John Telegraph speaks in the highest terms of the singing and acting of Mrs. Carter's Opera Co., in the "Pirates of Penzance." It is a pity they had not given us that opera, instead of a rehearsal of "Fatinitza."

BATH ORPHAN ASYLUM.

The Soldiers' Legacy—Thirteenth Annual Report of the Military and Naval Orphan Asylum at Bath.

The Trustees of the Bath Orphan Asylum, have submitted their annual report for the year ending December 31, 1880. The purposes for which this institution was established, appear still to warrant the continued care of the State, and to vindicate the wisdom of the bounty so directed.

There are so many soldiers enfeebled by the hardships of the field who have lingered along and are dying every year, really victims of the war, and leaving young families in a dependent condition, that this Home finds no lack of material for its benevolence.

TRUSTEES' REPORT.

The Trustees experience some difficulty in placing the grown-up children in proper situations. It appears that they have now no power to bind them out to such service or trade as they may deem fit, and it is the opinion of the present Board that the Trustees should be made full guardians, with powers to control the course of the children until they attain their majority.

In the judgment of the Trustees an appropriation by the State of $14,000 is required for the support of the institutions for the two coming years.

MATRON'S REPORT.

During the past year there have been 72 children at the Home.

There have been admitted the past year, 13; placed, 25; returned to the Home, 13.

GROUNDS AND BUILDINGS.

There have been raised on the farm the past year miscellaneous products to the value of $430.90 of which all has been consumed at the home with the exception of fruit sold for $10.20.

The buildings will need painting another season.

The committee recommended that a suitable man and his wife be employed to manage the Home, under direction of the several committees; the man as Superintendent, and his wife as Matron. Such a course, if practicable, would materially lessen the expense, which is especially desirable, now that the number children is so much less than in former years.

To substantiate the above recommendation the committee give in detail the several items which collectively make up the present pay roll, and also the items necessary to meet the requirements of the department were the proposed change effected, showing a saving in the latter instance of $1,274 per annum.

TREASURER'S REPORT.

The treasurer reports receipts for the past year amounting to $7,943.46 including the appropriation from the State. The expenditures during the year have amounted to $7,736.34, leaving a balance in the treasury of $207.12.

PHYSICIAN'S REPORT.

There has been no accident or death among the inmates for the past year. Strict attention has been given to the children's food, bathing, bedding, sleeping rooms and amusements. The cooking and drainage have been frequently inspected, especially during the summer months, when neglect of them produces most danger. No child sent from the Home has been returned on account of disease or physical defect.

CONCLUSION.

This institution was established "for the purpose of rearing and educating, gratuitously, in the common branches of learning and ordinary industrial pursuits, the orphans and half-orphans of officers, soldiers, seamen and marines who have entered the service of the government from Maine during the war for the suppression of the rebellion, and have died while in said service, or subsequently from wounds received, or injuries or disease contracted while in said service."

This is an institution the founding of which is grandly illustrative of the philanthropy and patriotism of our people. Here the orphaned children of those war-worn veterans who fell in that glorious struggle for the preservation of our Union, find an haven of refuge. Kind and loving hands are reached forth to receive them, and the blessings of "Sweet Home" are vouchsafed to the poor fatherless babes of Maine's dead heroes, who are left a legacy of honor to our protecting care. Here they are saved from the enforced criminality of vagabondage and reared in an atmosphere of purity and virtue, taught to regard with filial pride the liberty loving spirit, which orphaned them, and are made ready to assume the rights and honors of American citizenship. We have not a more deserving charity. It should be supported by all parties at all times.

A REFUGE.

BY REBECCA R. PIERCE.

There is a refuge for the weary
From the storms of life, so dreary.
Tempest-tost upon Life's ocean,
'Mid the billow's wild commotion,
Refuge sure, that faileth never,
I will trust in God forever.

With a tender love he found me
When the waters surged around me:
In my wanderings he heeds me—
Safely to the fold he leads me:
Till his hand life's thread shall sever,
I will trust—and doubt him never.

Though no earthly friend shall cheer me,
I'll not fear if he be near me;
And though often he may chide me,
He will ever guard and guide me,
Peaceful in his hands I lay me,
Simply trusting, though he slay me.

I will trust in him unfearing—
Trust, and wait for his appearing.
Wrongs and wrath were unavailing,
If he be my help unfailing:
Refuge sure, that faileth never,
I will trust in God forever.

BENSON'S CELERY AND CHAMOMILE PILLS are prepared expressly to cure Sick Headache, Nervous Headache, Neuralgia, Nervousness, Paralysis, Sleeplessness and Indigestion or Dyspepsia, and will cure any case, no matter how obstinate, if properly used. They are not a cure-all, but only for those special diseases. They contain no opium, morphine or quinine, and are not a purgative, but regulate the bowels and cures constipation by curing or removing the causes of it. They have a charming effect upon the skin, and a lovely, quieting effect upon the nervous system, simply by feeding its ten thousand hungry, yes, in some cases starving absorbents. They make or create nerve matter and give power, force and buoyancy to the nerves, and in that way increased mental force, endurance and brilliancy of mind. Nobody that has a nervous system should neglect to take them two or three months in each year, simply as a nerve food, if for no other purpose. LETTER CARRIERS.

All letters are delivered free by carriers when addressed to street and number. People should inform their correspondents of above and have their letters addressed accordingly.

Carriers make two deliveries daily, the first trip supplying the extremes of their routes.

Collections are made morning and evening in season for important mails.

Holidays the Carrier's Window will be open for the delivery of letters from 8½ to 9½ A. M., and from 7½ to 8½ P. M. Sundays from 8½ to 9½ A. M.

PENOBSCOT, SS. Court of Probate, September Term, A. D. 1880.

The Commissioners of Insolvency on the estate of Joseph Baker, late of Brewer, having made return of the Warrant to them issued for this purpose, together with their doings thereon,

Ordered, That public notice be given to all persons interested, by causing a copy of this order to be published three weeks successively in The Bangor Weekly Courier, a newspaper published in Bangor in said county, that they may appear at a Court of Probate for said county, to be held at the Probate Office in said Bangor, on the last Tuesday in October next, at ten of the clock in the forenoon, and show cause, if any they have, why the same should not be accepted and approved.

To the Honorable Judge of Probate for the County of Penobscot.

The undersigned, executrix of the estate of Samuel Page, late of Orono, in said County, deceased, respectfully represents that the goods and chattels, rights and credits of said deceased are not sufficient to pay his just debts, legacies and charges of administration by the sum of about four thousand dollars.

Wherefore your petitioner prays your Honor to grant her power to sell, by license at public or private sale and convey the whole of the following described real estate of the deceased, as the residue would be greatly depreciated by a sale of any portion, viz: All of the real estate of which the deceased died seized, including his late homestead and a wood lot in said Orono, to satisfy said debts, legacies, expenses of sale, and charges of administration.
